

The Backdoor Bouncers have been the back bone of the Superleague for many years.

Meet the Backdoor Bouncers. They have competed in the UCD Superleague season after season, rain, hail or shine. Their distinguished black and pink striped jerseys will always make them stand out even if their football doesn't. Their early season form has not been kind. They currently sit in second last position in the Premier Saturday Division with one point from six games. With plenty of football still to be played there is no reason a surge anytime soon could see them climb the table. They suffered another recent set back however, when they were knocked out at the first round of the Superleague League Cup, on penalties no less. Fortune favours the brave and any time willing to wear pink in this most unforgiving of environments must surely have some luck heading it's way.
